Wisconsin Republican Senator Blasts Group for Attempting 'Whitewash of Shameful Episode'; Marine Corps Veteran of World War 2

Washington, May 20 (AP)—Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) today angrily quit the Senate group investigating the Malmedy trials and blasted it for "attempting to whitewash a shameful episode" in armed forces history.

McCarthy, himself a World War 2 Marine veteran, has constantly been at odds with Senator Baldwin (R-Conn.), chairman of the group looking into the trial of Nazi soldiers charged with massacring American prisoners of war during the Battle of the Bulge.

The Wisconsin lawmaker issued two bitter statements—one to the press, another for the Senate record—in which he accused Baldwin's Armed Services Subcommittee of "a deliberate attempt to avoid the facts."

"I feel that the investigation has degenerated to such a shameful farce that I can no longer take part therein," he said.

After issuing his statements, McCarthy went to a meeting of the committee, then walked out, saying the inquiry is "a sham, a farce and a very deliberate attempt to whitewash" the army's trial of the Germans.

Roosevelt Calls For Clean Out In Tammany Hall

Thinks Sampson Is Best to Be Leader Again; Ex-Boss Is Also O'Dwyer's Man

New York, May 20 (AP)—Congressman-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., flying to Israel today for a visit—has thrown his weight behind the growing demand for a housecleaning in Tammany Hall.

He hopes Tammany leader Hugo E. Rogers will quit or be voted out "as quickly as possible" and thinks ex-leader Frank J. Sampson would be a good choice for the post.

Roosevelt, who denounced a Tammany candidate and two others in a Congressional election Tuesday, spoke on the leadership issue as he left for Israel last night.

Although elected as the Liberal and Four Freedoms parties' candidate, he will go to Congress as a Democrat when he returns in about two weeks.

Roosevelt told newsmen at LaGuardia Field that he favors a more democratic system of electing Tammany district leaders.

Kennedy Demands Death Penalty for Harvell, Allgood

Hudson, N. Y., May 20 (AP)—The prosecution began building its case today to send two young cousins to the electric chair in the robbery-slaying of a Hudson businessman.

District Attorney Thomas P. Kennedy told a state Supreme Court jury yesterday afternoon that there were "no mitigating circumstances."

He demanded the death penalty for Richard Harvell, 18, of Hudson and Lawrence W. Allgood, 20, of Union, N. Y.

They are charged with first degree murder in the shooting of Martin M. Kittell, 48, a Hudson dry cleaning operator, last Nov. 21.

Kennedy made his opening remarks to the jury shortly after the second alternate had been seated. He is Joseph McLaughlin, 60, Columbia county's wartime draft board chairman. A total of (Continued on Page 5, Col. 7)

Dorazio Convicted

Former Fighter May Get 10 to 20 Years in Blomeyer Death

Philadelphia, May 20 (AP)—A Quarter Sessions jury of 11 women and one man deliberated an hour and 15 minutes yesterday before convicting former heavyweight fighter Gus Dorazio of second degree murder in the fatal beating of a fellow brewery worker.

Assistant District Attorney John C. Kane had told the jurors Dorazio's beating of Albert Blomeyer, 23, was "an unprovoked attack."

Blomeyer died in Women's Hospital last Jan. 7, six hours after an alleged fight at a Philadelphia brewery.

Dorazio, who was knocked out by Joe Louis in February, 1941, faces a possible prison sentence of 10 to 20 years.

Sentencing was deferred, however, pending motion for a new trial. Meanwhile, Dorazio was remanded to jail without bail to await this action.

Rains Bring Relief

Albany, N. Y., May 20 (AP)—Heavy rain brought relief today to farmers in western New York and the upper Hudson valley, where an extended dry spell threatened serious farm damage.

The rain, which began last night, also brought relief from a heat wave that blanketed most of the state. A drop of 40 degrees from yesterday afternoon to this morning was reported in several parts of the state. The Weather Bureau reported that rain covered virtually the entire state. In Jamestown, two inches fell in 40 minutes.

Big Three Strongest Since Yalta

Soviet Union's Position in Bargaining Is Economically Weak at Present

West Will Deal Nations Can Assume Offensive or Can Sit Tight

Berlin, May 20 (AP)—America, Britain and France will go into the Paris foreign ministers conference in their strongest positions since Yalta.

This is the situation of the Big Four as seen today in Berlin where France, Britain, the United States and Russia wrangle daily.

The Soviet Union's bargaining situation has been considerably weakened economically and politically since the Moscow and London conferences.

In both previous conferences the west was in a defensive position, trying to seek agreements from Russia.

In the Paris conference for the first time diplomats believe the west can take the offensive or sit tight and let the Soviets seek to break the deadlock.

In a nutshell, the comparative positions on Germany are seen in this light politically and economically.

Western advantages:

(1) Last year and two years ago Western Germany was poverty stricken and economically stagnant. Today its industry is booming, living standards have been raised, its money has been reformed and put on a stable basis and recovery is well under way.

(2) Last year and two years ago west Germany was a political vacuum. There was no government nor did anyone care much about one. Today the Germans are busy setting up their own west German state and Germans as a whole have taken an interest in politics again. They have definitely aligned themselves with the west and Communism has sunk to its lowest levels since pre-Hitler times.

(3) Last year and two years ago the western powers were split on their German policy. Britain and the United States wanted to rebuild Germany until it could support itself. France, fearing German aggression, opposed every such move. With security fears largely alleviated by the Atlantic Pact, France is now closer to Britain and the United States and united in a common German policy.

Russia's position:

(1) At the end of the war the Soviets had the only zone which could support itself economically, particularly in food. Its standard of living was far higher than the industrial West. Today, stripped by reparations, and shipping vast quantities of goods to Russia, the eastern zone is a deficit area. Its standard of living has tumbled for money, despite reforms. It is worth only one fourth as much as the west.

(2) At the end of the war, the Russians had a chance to win German support by a lenient occupation policy. Today there is no hope for such support except by force of arms. Ruthless suppression of all anti-Communist opposition, the installation of a small Communist minority as the ruling class and reduction of the population to a state of economic dependence are the only ways to win support. An opposition vote of 33 per cent last week-end in an election rigged to produce a 100 per cent "yes" vote is an index of the Soviet Union's political failure.

A major factor in the lowering of Soviet prestige in Europe was the failure of Russia's attempt to force the western powers from Berlin by starving the population through the blockade.

The west's stand with the airlift heartened not only Germany but all of Europe to resist Communism.

The Soviet withdrawal of the blockade without achieving their objectives showed the Russian bear to be vulnerable if the opposition is firm and united.

Prowler Is Scared Away

A police search in the area of Clinton avenue at John street failed to locate a prowler who reportedly attempted to open a back window at 277 Clinton avenue at 1:45 a. m. today, the police reported. The man, who could not be identified, fled to the rear of the property where he was surprised in the act by Mrs. Louis W. Sapp, Jr., a resident of that address, police said. Patrolmen Grover Hoffay, Louis W. Sapp, Jr., Clarence Cogswell and Thomas Lawver were dispatched, but could not locate the man.

Boston Student Is Scholarship Man; Denied Clearance

Lilienthal Says Edelman Denies He Belongs to Communist Party

Washington, May 20 (AP)—A young medical student in Boston holds a $3,750 atomic fellowship. It was disclosed today, although he has been denied clearance on security grounds for secret work.

The student was named before a Senate Appropriations Subcommittee as Isidore S. Edelman, of the Peter Brent Brigham Hospital, Boston.

Senator Wherry (R-Neb.) brought up Edelman's name after a list of some 500 fellowships granted by the Atomic Energy Commission (A.E.C.) had been given to the committee and A.E.C. Chairman David E. Lilienthal had acknowledged "there may be as many as three in the 500" about whom questions of loyalty had been raised.

Wherry asked Lilienthal if Edelman is a Communist.

"He denies he is a Communist," Lilienthal replied.

Wherry then asked if Edelman had been refused security clearance for access to secret information. Lilienthal said this was true because of "derogatory evidence" against him.

"Did you recommend him, and (Continued on Page 9, Col. 3)

Goldpaugh Fined For Drunk Driving

Catherine Gorman Injured as Car Rams Truck While Parked

An automobile driven by Lawrence Goldpaugh, 46, of Sawkill crashed into the rear of a truck parked at 743 Broadway at 2:35 a. m. today, causing minor injuries to the driver and a passenger, Catherine Gorman, 48, of 138 Newkirk avenue, the police reported.

Goldpaugh received lacerations about his face and ear, and Miss Gorman received lacerations of her forehead, chin, right elbow and upper arm and abrasions of the knees, police said. Both were treated at Kingston Hospital.

Following the accident, Patrolmen Grover Hoffay and Clarence Cogswell placed Goldpaugh under arrest on a charge of driving while intoxicated. Arraigned in City Court today, Goldpaugh pleaded guilty and was fined $50 by City Judge Raymond Mino.

According to the police report of the accident, Goldpaugh was driving south on Broadway and hit the left rear end of the truck, the force of the impact driving the truck ahead about 12 feet in spite of the fact that the brakes were set and the truck was in gear. The complete front end of the automobile was crushed.

Plans Are Formed For Two Memorial Programs in City

War Dead Lost at Sea Are to Be Honored; Keator Announces Plans for Parade

Final plans for the annual Sunday ritual service at the Rondout Creek in honor of war dead lost at sea and plans for the Memorial Day parade were formulated Wednesday night during a meeting of 25 delegates and committee members of the Kingston Veterans' Association at the American Legion Building, West O'Reilly street.

The two-day observance will begin Sunday, May 29, at 3 p. m. when the casting of flowers will take place on the Rondout creek at the foot of Hasbrouck avenue. All veteran organizations and auxiliaries will take part in the service in addition to the scouts and other fraternal societies.

Plans were announced completed by H. A. Keator for the Memorial Day parade which is scheduled to start Monday, May 30, at 2 p. m. from the Academy Green. Keator, a member of Company M, Veterans' Association, is the parade chairman.

The parade will be led by a band furnished through the courtesy of the Musicians Protective Local, 215. Ten other musical units and several new organizations also will be included in the line of march.

Chairman James M. Krom of the K.V.A. said today that the usual Sunday night program at the municipal auditorium will not be held this year. A memorial program from the reviewing stand in front of the city hall immediately after the parade will supplant the Sunday night service.

Roy Jacobs, chairman of the cemetery committee, reported that there will be 1,190 graves to be decorated this year, an increase of 55 over 1948. This work will be conducted by each veteran organization. A flag is placed on the grave of each veteran.

The following organizations will be in charge of the various cemeteries:

Montrose Cemetery, Co. M. Veterans' Association, Edward Geschwinder, chairman.

St. Mary's Cemetery, American Legion, Thomas Murray, chairman.

Willowick Cemetery, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Howard Shurter, chairman.

St. Peter's Cemetery, United Spanish War Veterans, Roswell Coles, chairman.

Sons of the Veterans will be in charge of Mt. Zion, Mt. Calvary and Wynkoop Place Cemeteries.

Police Commissioners Pick Detective; Report Is Given

William A. Krum, who since June, 1948, has been acting detective with the Kingston Police Department, was given his permanent appointment as detective by the police board of police commissioners Thursday night.

Action of the board followed notification that state officials have approved the retirement request of Detective Wesley Cramer, who has been on disability leave since 1948.

Detective Krum began his connection with the police department March 24, 1938, when he was appointed a special patrolman. He was appointed regular patrolman April 1, 1942.

From August 14, 1942, until November 25, 1945, Krum served with the U. S. Army, including service in the Pacific Theatre of Operations. Following his discharge from the army, Krum rejoined the local police and in April, 1946, was appointed acting sergeant. He attended the National Academy of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington, D. C. for a 14-week period in 1947.

Cramer, formerly a motorcycle patrolman and later a detective with the local force, has been inactive since June, 1948. In October of that year he applied for disability retirement. This application was approved by the local police board and submitted to Albany for approval by the state. Notification that his retirement claim has been approved by state officials has been received here, creating the vacancy to which Krum was appointed Thursday night.

The report of Chief of Police Raymond Van Buren to the commissioners Thursday night disclosed that during the month of April there were five motor vehicle accidents in this city, causing injury to five persons. Two of the accidents involved a boy on a tricycle, a car which ran off the roadway and struck a pole, and a collision between two vehicles.

Chief Van Buren also reported that during the month of April the police department made 79 arrests, all of which were of male persons. Traffic infractions, including violations of the city code and the state vehicle and traffic law, accounted for 33 arrests, public intoxication for 25 arrests and disorderly conduct, 10 arrests.

Three Men Seized

Detectives Get Manhattan Trio; May Solve Robberies

New York, May 20 (AP)—Capture of three accused holdup men—two of whom were wounded in a valley of shots fired by detectives—was believed by police today to have solved several Manhattan robberies.

Police said one of the men, Robert Dunne, 21, told them he and his partners staged four holdups in the last two weeks.

Dunne was the only one of the trio unhurt yesterday when detectives halted an alleged holdup attempt at a Park avenue drug store.

John Lapine, 23, was shot twice in the abdomen, and Fred Camin, 20, was wounded in the shoulder by detectives, who fired eight shots in the drug store melee. Lapine was in critical condition today, hospital authorities said.

Erie Leader Prophesies Higher Post

Sen. Walter J. Mahoney Sounds Note at Dinner Held in Wicks' Honor at Governor Clinton Qualities Praised

Hanley and Loughran, Feinberg, Quinn and Steingut Speak

Leaders of state government, members of the judiciary, colleagues in the legislature and friends of Senator Arthur H. Wicks gathered 350 strong Thursday evening at the Governor Clinton Hotel to honor him on his recent appointment as majority leader of the New York state Senate.

Attending the testimonial dinner were representatives from all sections of New York state including Acting Governor of the State of New York, Joe R. Hanley, who brought a personal message from Governor Thomas E. Dewey, who with his family is touring Europe.

Senator Wicks has served in the legislature since 1927 and was chairman of the Senate Finance Committee until his appointment as Senate majority leader last month.

The high position which Senator Wicks holds, his past record and his prominence and popularity throughout the state many believe may lead to the Republican nomination for governor of New York state at the next election.

Mahoney's Tribute

An indication of this was the note sounded last evening by Senator Walter J. Mahoney, Erie county Republican, whom Senator Wicks appointed as chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, the post Wicks himself held prior to his recent appointment as temporary chairman and majority leader of the Senate.

Senator Mahoney, who has served in the Senate since 1937, paid a glowing tribute to Arthur H. Wicks and then said "he has earned the admiration of all of the people of the state" and in closing said it was his prediction that Senator Wicks would "go on to higher office."

This Statement of Senator Mahoney Was Greeted with Prolonged Applause

Linenthal Busy On Playhouse Summer Plans

Woodstock, May 20—Michael Linenthal, managing-director, Woodstock Playhouse, has been visiting communities on both sides of the river during the past few weeks and talking with theatre groups. He said he was "amazed to find so many persons across the river interested in the prospective Kingston-Rhincliff theatre."

Since part of Linenthal's program to interest the public in summer theatre, a series of talks will be given to high school students throughout the county, the first of the series to be at the Kingston High School late this month. Sunday afternoons at the Playhouse are being reserved for school children at an unusually low rate of admission.

He has also been arranging for benefits at the playhouse. So far, Hindasah, Kingston, and the Woodstock Library Fund Raising Committee have selected dates. Others under consideration are the Kingston Junior League, the Benedictine Hospital, Sons and Daughters of Norway and numerous others.

A substantial investment has been made in theatre equipment this year. It includes a complete new battery of lights and power machinery to speed up the scenery making.

Linenthal announced that Miss Aileen Kramer and Mrs. Gerald Savory will handle the theatre's publicity, while Merril Wyatt, uncle of screen actress Jean Wyatt, will be in charge of public relations. Miss Jean Raymond, a student at St. Lawrence College, will return as secretary. Herman Schwenk, Kingston, will be one of the new apprentices this year. He is a student at St. Lawrence College.

Beside these plays already announced, Linenthal plans to present "On Borrowed Time," The Heiress, Androcles and The Lion, and Morning's at Seven. He is considering doing the recent Broadway hit, "Light Up the Sky," and is investigating the possibility of ending the season with an original musical review.

"The response so far has been beyond expectation," said Linenthal in speaking of the newly organized Woodstock Playhouse Club. He expects to have in the neighborhood of 1500 members in the club. He also expressed great satisfaction with regard to the theatre committees which have been formed in several communities in the county.

The Playhouse opens its season Tuesday evening, June 21, with a presentation of "I Remember Mama" by John Van Druten, who also wrote The Voice of the Turtle in which Joan Crawford toured the summer circuit in 1948.

New Print Shop Makes Small Reproductions

Woodstock, May 20—Ethel Adams, local artist, who recently opened a shop adjoining the Nook where prints and lithographs by prominent local artists are exhibited reports "The Ida" by Doris Lee has been sold. This print depicts the old Saugerties night boat.

Margaret Lowengrund, who received such fine notices on her work currently exhibited at the National Academy Galleries purchased "Girl in Pink" by Modigliani. Said Margaret, "It's true we changed the prints in our house," when she acquired her new one.

Local artists represented at the shop are: Marion Greenwood, Fletcher Martin, John McClellan, Sigmond McKees, Margaret Lowengrund, and Gloria Calamar. It is expected that other artists will be added to those already represented.

Considerable interest is being shown by those visiting the shop in the unusual but extremely appropriate individual frames for the prints which have been hung on the walls. These frames are made by the four young artists who recently settled in Lake Hill and organized the Woodstock Art Club.

Art students generally cannot afford to purchase expensive originals and reproductions of old masters as well as the contemporary painters. Mrs. Adams had this group in mind in selecting small reproductions which are priced at an amount that any student could afford to pay.

SOCIAL "SECURITY"

New York City, May 20—The general idea of compelling us all to allot a portion of our monthly income to help take care of us at 65 is splendid. No one can take exception to this. I, however, do strenuously object to the government calling this social "Security."

What Becomes of This Money? First, let us consider how this works. We each have deducted from our pay every week one per cent. To this is added an equal amount contributed by our employer, which adds to the cost of the goods we make and is ultimately paid by us. Hence, in the long run, all of the money is collected directly or indirectly from us. All readers should understand this.

Next, where does this money go? It is not invested in a miscellaneous diversified group of safe securities, which would help industry and employment. Rather, the government merely buys its own bonds or gives the fund a credit on its books. This money when invested might be compared to a note which you or I might give to ourselves, or a better illustration, would be like the endorsing of our own I.O.U.

What Do We Get? Briefly, at 65 years of age, if we quit work, we get a small pension from the government. This ranges from $10 minimum to $85 maximum per month, according to the number of years that we have contributed to the fund and our average wages during said years and whether we are single or married. This means that a single person who has worked 40 years at an average wage of $150 during all these 40 years can retire at 65 and get $42 per month; or if married, get $63 with something for the widow at death. If your wage averages less than $150 or if you have worked less than 40 years, you are cut down proportionately.

With the cost of living as high as at present and the purchasing power of the dollar so small, this pension means little to a man and his wife. I, however, do not object so much to the small amount as I object to the label. The Federal Trade Commission should forbid the use of the word "Security." This word is fooling 50,000,000 people to think that by making this contribution, they will be secure in their old age. If the Government wants to call it a "pension," well and good; but to use

Is The Program For Good Or Evil?

No doubt the motive for the Act was good, but the real question is whether the American people would be better or worse off today without it? I honestly believe the nation is worse off today because this legislation is killing the spirit of saving. People are saying, "People are saying 'Uncle Sam will take care of me.' Hence, they spend their surplus funds on gambling, horse races, liquor and other wasteful expenditures, instead of saving their money as did their parents."

If the Government was promising to pay us in real things such as food, clothing and shelter, these pensions would be O.K. The Government, however, takes our good dollars today and can pay us in bad dollars when we are 65. These may then be worth very little.

How Safely To Save The above means that if all the readers of this column should reach 65, July 1, 1949, they would get an average of only $34.50 per month pension. Hence, it is a crime to your family to depend upon this. Instead do these three things.

Have a small sustenance farm, somewhere to which you can go in an emergency.

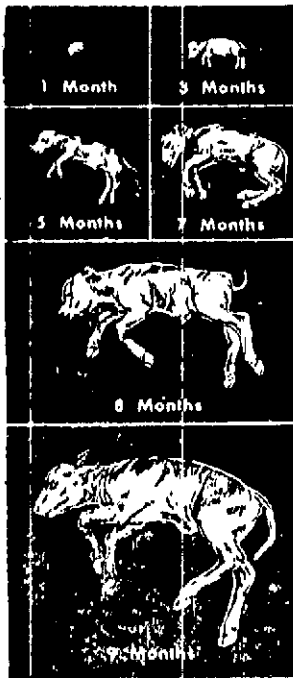

Give your children and wife an expert knowledge of some trade or profession.

Make regular cash savings which can be invested at the right time in a well diversified list of stocks, bonds, and good real things.

LT. JOHN ROBERTSON

The body of Lt. John C. Robertson, son of Clarence R. and Elizabeth Heybrück Robertson of 133 Clifton avenue, who was killed in action in Hungary February 7, 1945, will arrive in Kingston Monday about noon, by motor vehicle from the Brooklyn Army Base.

After its arrival, the body will be taken directly from the James M. Murphy Funeral Home to the residence.

Lieutenant Robertson was previously reported missing in action before official word of his death was released by the War Department. He had been serving as a navigator with the 15th Air Force at the time and had been stationed at Foggia Field, Italy.

Prior to his entry into service on his birthday, June 30, 1942, Lieutenant Robertson had been graduated from School 5, Kingston High School and the New Paltz State Teachers College. He was graduated from K.H.S. with the Class of 1938.

Following his enlistment, the European air veteran received his preliminary training at Camp Hood, Tex., and received his commission June 1943 with a tank destroyer outfit. He then transferred to the Air Corps and trained at Ellington Field, Tex., where he received his navigator wings.

Later, he was stationed at Chatham Army Air Field, Savannah, Ga., and at Mitchell Field, L. I. While at the latter base, he was assigned to overseas duty. He went overseas in October of 1944.

In addition to his parents, Lieutenant Robertson is survived by a brother, Joseph William Robertson, Kingston; two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Savago, Franklin Square, L. I., and Mrs. Joseph Moser, Liberty.

The funeral will be held from the late residence Tuesday at 9:30 a. m. and at 10 a. m. at St. Mary's Church where a solemn Mass of requiem will be offered. Burial will be in the family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery with full military honors by the Kingston Veterans' Association.

Pressure Saucepan
Clinic Set at Ward's

Science has again stepped into the kitchen to shorten the housewife's meal preparation time, in many instances, from hours to a few minutes . . . according to an announcement by H. W. Reppert, local Montgomery Ward store manager, who points out that a complete meal of meat and six fresh vegetables can now be cooked in one utensil in five minutes without intermingling of flavors, colors and odors; without vegetables losing their garden-fresh color, vitamins and minerals.

The secret of this kitchen magic, according to Reppert, is the pressure saucepan—a small size streamlined version of the larger pressure cookers that have been used for many years.

A pressure saucepan clinic to demonstrate the cooking magic of this utensil will be held at the local Montgomery Ward store, 19 North Front street, beginning Monday, May 23, under the direction of Robert Carr who has been specially trained in the art of pressure cooking and canning. Demonstrations will be almost continuous throughout the week.

All local homemakers are invited to attend this free clinic any time next week. New methods of making the most of pressure saucepan cooking will be demonstrated and personal advice will be given on pressure cooking and canning.

Chicken Disease
Kills 15,000 Ducks

Eastpoint, N. Y., May 20 (AP)—A chicken disease has hit 15 Long Island duck farms, it was revealed yesterday, killing 15,000 ducklings a week.

A. Marshall Spear, executive director of the Long Island Duck Growers' Association, said about 10 per cent of the weekly market quota of ducks have been wiped out in the last three weeks.

A vaccine used with success on chickens now is being tried on ducks, Spear said. However, the ducklings catch the disease, called newcastle, at an earlier age than chickens and the vaccine will be of little use unless it immunizes the offspring of breeding birds, he explained.

The disease, known to afflict chickens for the last 20 years, appeared mildly among ducks last fall. It spread rapidly this spring. Spear said that, as far as is known, the disease cannot be transmitted to humans.

Five-Foot Shelf of Good Looks

A TOUCH on the handle—and a wide front door swings open on a prospect full of invitation.

There's a wheel that seems actually eager for the touch of your hand.

There's a broad 63-inch seat cushion, comfortably angled, soft and inviting, and only a hand's width narrower than a full-size parlor sofa.

There are narrower corner posts hardly wider than the space between your eyes, so plenty easy to see around—and there's a broad, sweeping, full-curved windshield spreading a horizon-wide view before your eyes.

There's a gas treadle that flicks into instant life the great power of a big, full-throated Fireball power plant. Under the wheel there can be a Dynaflo selector lever you set once and then forget through all your normal forward driving.

And wrapping it all up in one stunningly beautiful picture of top-drawer travel is modern styling in the good Buick manner—sleek lines, bright chrome, the instant identification of gleaming Ventiports.

Here's five-feet-plus of deep-seated comfort—an outlook that brings the whole landscape indoors—handsome lines that draw admiring glances anywhere—what else is needed to settle your mind on this one?

Two things, probably. A little spin with yourself behind the wheel just to take this honey's measure. A look at the price tags and a bit of mental comparisons just to prove how big a buy it is.

For both you have only to see your Buick dealer—who will be pleased to demonstrate, pleased to talk price—and pleased to take your order for surprisingly early delivery.

said among the qualities of Senator Wicks was that of "understanding men's minds" and he referred to the guest of honor as a man with a "courageous mind" who had been willing to devote his time and ability to be of service to the people of the State of New York.

Message From Dewey

While Governor Dewey was prevented from attending the testimonial dinner because of his absence from the country, he sent his regrets and also through Acting Governor Hanley sent a personal greeting to Senator Wicks. In that message Governor Dewey said, "I have always trusted him, always admired him and always will. As majority leader of the New York State Senate, I shall have in him a strong right arm."

At the conclusion of the program there was no doubt in the mind of any of those in attendance that in Senator Wicks, the people of the district which he represents have one of the most distinguished and most respected representatives in the entire state of New York. Republicans and Democrats alike expressed their admiration for the aggressive, intelligent and understanding manner in which Senator Wicks has always conducted the duties of his office.

Dr. Seelye Gives Invocation

The invocation was by the Rev. Frank B. Seelye, D.D., pastor emeritus of the Fair Street Reformed Church, and president of the Ulster County Board of Health. Following the serving of the dinner John D. Schoonmaker, chairman of the dinner committee, spoke briefly to thank the members of the committee and then presented Hon. John M. Cushman, county judge of Ulster county, toastmaster.

Judge Cushman in turn presented Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk who extended an official welcome to the guests on behalf of the City of Kingston.

Hon. Lee B. Mailer of Cornwall, majority leader of the New York State Assembly, who has served in the assembly since 1934, was the first speaker of the evening and each succeeding speaker in a brief talk of his personal regard and the high esteem in which they held Senator Wicks. Many of them briefly reviewed his work in public office, referred to his magnificent career as a public official and in every instance paid their own personal tribute to his ability as a statesman.

ing the good right hand of friendship," concluded Judge Loughran.

Hon. Benjamin F. Feinberg, former majority leader of the Senate who has served in the Senate since 1933 and is now chairman of the Public Service Commission, said every legislator who goes to Albany goes there with the intention of making a good record no matter what his politics or position. "None has given so unselfishly of his time, his ability and his health as has Arthur Wicks," said the speaker.

Former Majority Leader Feinberg thanked Senator Wicks for his assistance and aid in the past and he said if he had accomplished anything of importance while he had served as majority leader it had been due to the strong right hand of Senator Wicks.

"None Knows More"

"No one in the state knows more of state government than does Arthur Wicks," said Mr. Feinberg. He said Senator Wicks had made a great contribution to the state of New York and the people of Kingston had many reasons to be proud of him. He referred to the city of Kingston as contributing to the state of New York its first governor. Kingston was the first capital of the state of New York, said the speaker, and many great men have since come from Kingston, but none have given more distinguished or more loyal service to the state of New York than has Mr. Wicks.

"His word is his bond, once he gives it you can depend upon it," said Commissioner Feinberg. He referred to Senator Wicks as a man with loyalty, vision, a man who is humane and with a desire to do the right thing.

In closing Chairman Feinberg said none had been closer to him, none had held the confidence, no one had ever given as unselfishly of himself as had the guest of honor and he closed with the statement that the state of New York had benefited by the "fine mind and fine courage" which was that of Arthur Wicks.

Acting Governor Joe R. Hanley, referred to as "the most beloved man in the state of New York," said he had chosen Senator Wicks as "my chairman of finance." He referred to the humble slat which had been that of Senator Wicks and of the manner in which success had come to the guest of honor through hard work and devotion to business.

Governor Hanley said it was men like Senator Wicks, men who would devote their time and ability to government who were needed in government if democracy is to survive and prosper. He said it was his hope that Senator Wicks would be able to continue to devote his time and his ability to his new task and it was his hope that he would be able to continue those good qualities of leadership which had been shown in the past.

Judge Cushman at the conclusion of the speaking program paid his own tribute to Senator Wicks and said that it was his feeling that "all things being equal we hope we may be able to call you Governor Wicks."

Presented With Watch

Judge Cushman then on behalf of those assembled presented to Senator Wicks a watch. In accepting the gift Senator Wicks said "I rise most humbly, I am bewildered, overcome at this display of fellowship and loyalty to me." He said he hoped that he would be able to live up to the things which had been said of him. He thanked the committee of which John D. Schoonmaker was chairman, and all of his colleagues. To the many Democratic friends who were in attendance, Senator Wicks extended his thanks and with a smile said that they had all shown their loyalty even though they knew politically "I can't give you anything but love."

His Mother's Birthday

Senator Wicks said the day held a great memory for him. It was the birthday of his mother and he regretted that she was not here to witness the day, for it might have been some measure of compensation for the heartaches which he had caused her when he was young.

He expressed his appreciation to all those who had come to Kingston to make the day such a great one. He said he was not ungrateful of the responsibilities which were his in his new position but he said he hoped that with the cooperation of the Republicans "and charity on the part of the minority, I hope to do a good job."

In closing he said he intended to dedicate himself to his job. In his country in the world was freedom to be found in such a large measure as in the United States and he said he hoped that we would be able to hand on to future generations the same unhampered freedom which is ours. That would be his goal as a legislator.

Labor Sends Letter

A letter was received from Harold C. Hanover, secretary-treasurer of the New York State Federation of Labor, sent to George E. Yerry, Jr., local labor representative, in which best wishes were extended to Senator Wicks. He commented upon the efforts which Senator Wicks had made to have placed on the statute books many laws which had been of benefit to all wage earners.

One of the high points of good legislation, the latter stated, was the Wicks Prevailing Wage Act of 1933 which has set a pattern

Kennedy Demands

986 veniremen had been called since selection of the jury began May 3 before Justice Isadore Bookstein.

The defense counsel, John J. Scully and Daniel H. Prior of Albany, asked the jury to keep a fair and open mind until all testimony had been heard.

Kennedy told the jury: "These defendants are guilty of murder in the first degree and there are no mitigating circumstances. There should be no recommendation for life imprisonment."

The prosecutor contended that Kittell's death climaxed an attempt by the defendants to "roll him."

He said they slugged Kittell with a gun in a Hudson alley, tied him with his own belt and took his wallet containing $700. Then, the district attorney continued, the youths drove Kittell in his own car to a farm north of the city and shot him in the head.

$690,000 Returned

New York, May 20 (AP)—The National City Bank today got back $690,000 allegedly stolen by Richard H. Crowe, former assistant bank manager. Federal Judge Samuel H. Kaufman signed a court order permitting the government to return the money. It included $193,660 in cash with the rest being securities. Authorities

Fire Outbreak

Reds were beaten back each time. Some of the radio equipment was being moved into downtown Shanghai.

Few aerial bombs were heard in the last few hours although the communists claimed government planes were still hitting the Reds.

Central News Agency quoted the police commissioner as saying heavy Nationalist reinforcements were coming to Shanghai.

Quiet marked the western front yesterday after a big withdrawal of troops. It turned out tonight that other troops replaced them later.

The city's curfew has been moved up to 9 p. m. and along the Whangpoo to 8 p. m.

Many foreigners received anonymous communications in the mails saying that "a number of foreigners have been blacklisted by reactionaries and will be taken care of before the final withdrawal." Apparently the messages were from some underground organization.

said about $6,500 of the stolen funds are still missing. Crowe, a $6,500-a-year employee, is accused of stealing the money March 25. He was arrested in Florida and the securities later were found in the attic of his home.

WHEN MOM WANTS A JOB DONE, SHE CAN MAKE GRENADE FEEL SIXTY YEARS OLD...

BUT WHEN SHE WANTS TO GO OUT ON A DATE, MOM CARRIES ON LIKE GRENADE WAS STILL IN DIAPERS...

A worker looked in his lunch pail each day and as he unwrapped his sandwich, he said: "Bah! Peanut butter again!" and threw it into the ash can!

Other Worker: (observing this) —Can't your wife make any other kind of sandwich except peanut butter?

Other Worker: You leave my wife out of this! I make my own sandwiches.

It's a good thing that men don't understand women! Women do and they don't like them.—Grit.

Around the table in the back of a saloon gathered as tough a gang of men as could be found. The game was fast and furious; the stakes were high.

Suddenly the dealer flung his cards on the table and jerked out his six-gun.

Dealer: (shouting)—Boss, this game ain't a straight one. Slippery Lewin ain't playing the hand I dealt him.

Mama—I see where a woman was awarded $2,000 for the loss of a thumb. I didn't think that a thumb was that valuable.

Papa—It must have been the one she kept her husband under.

Worry is a little like a rocking chair—it gives you something to do but never gets you anywhere.

The dimmest lights have the highest scandal power.

Wife—They're very much in love with each other.

Husband—Are they?

Wife—Yes. When she's away she writes letters to him whether she needs money or not.

Teacher—What do you consider the greatest achievement of the Romans?

Student—Speaking Latin.

Courtship is that period in which a girl wraps a man around her little finger so that later she can hold him under her thumb.—Grit.

Pitching Horseshoes

By BILLY ROSE.

It's my bumptious belief that the state of a nation's show business is a sure-shot index to the state of the nation itself, and that the fastest way to get a line on what goes on in people's heads is to have a look at the types of entertainment they patronize. And so, during my seven days in Japan, I gave its stages and screens a careful peek-see, paying particular attention to how the audiences reacted to what they saw and heard.

Tokyo's Broadway, the Asakusa, is a cluttered-up boulevard that combines the bouncer aspects of 42nd street and Coney Island and, on its few short blocks, sports four burlesque theatres, a passel of peep shows, ten movie houses and more cash customers than you can shake a chopstick at.

The burlesque barns open at 10 p.m. admission is the equivalent of two thin dimes in our money, and the first one I went to, the Daito, offered a bumpy bill of fare that was a lot more borey than bawdy.

In a theatre as cold as a popsicle, a company of ten lazied through a bad imitation of Minsky while the audience—mostly peasants, street peddlers and casual workers—sat there in patched-up coats and strips of white gauze across their mouths to protect them from flu germs.

As the acts finished and bowed, I noticed there wasn't any applause, and so I howled the editor of The Nippon Times who was piloting me around.

"It's only in our better theatres that you'll hear hand-clapping," he told me. "Burdlesque audiences are the aristocrats who are supposed to be hard to please."

From the Daito we went to the Rock-za and took a hinge at another nautch and nip-up show called "The Pink Luxury Liner," which had one endearing moment—a soft-shoe dance in blackface to the tune of "Jeannie with the Light Brown Hair."

Things began picking up at stop No. 3, the International, where a cleaner and classier girl show was on display. Down from there was a lumpy, several hundred bobby-soxers and, when their favorite came out and kicked the fan around, they squealed as loudly as our kids do for Frank Sinatra. This favorite, however, was a girl dressed in top hat and tails since, as the editor explained, Mr. Otani, bossman of the Shochiku Syndicate, doesn't consider it proper for a stage to contain both men and women.

At the Nippon Theatre, we caught the famous Takarazuka Girls, the Rockettes of Japan, who have made their sponsor, Itozo Kobayashi, one of the ten-year-happiest millionaires in the country. Some years back, this gent got hot up about Bugaku, the traditional Japanese court dance, and built a school in which to teach it to young ladies. A few years later, criss-crossing the country in traveling units, these girls caught on like coconut candy and, with the profits, Kobayashi launched the Toho Syndicate and bought theatres and more theatres.

Our last stop on the Shinto circuit was a Kabuki theatre run by the above-mentioned Mr. Otani, an elderly chap with elderly ideas, who keeps producing Kabuki plays because he thinks the country ought to see them. Kabuki is an ancient art form in which a raised eyebrow is enough to denote that the marines have landed and here again the cast is all-gal or all-guy.

Most of these plays were written 300 years ago and retain a certain old-time elegance, but after an hour of feeling the seams in the seat cover, the thing I principally felt like cheering was the sensible system of selling separate tickets for each act—if a customer only likes act 4, he can let the other five go hang.

The next day I sampled several Japanese movies and, in the main, found them to be confused flickers which try to keep one instep East and the other West and, often as not, wind up on the small of the back. In one respect, however, they were light-years ahead of the legit—girl met boy without girl playing boy, although the last scene was usually a polite bow instead of the clench that clinches.

The night before we left for Shanghai, I round-tabled with a hundred producers and directors and tried to answer their eager questions about entertainment in the United States. And during the evening I learned, among other things, that the two theatrical syndicates, Shochiku and Toho, control 90 per cent of Japan's theatres and movie studios and, since neither is interested in paying royalties, it's practically impossible for a dramatist with a new play to find a producer to back it or a theatre to house it. There's no such animal as a drama critic in the whole of Japan, seeing as how a producer would lose face and have to stick a knife in his middle if someone panned his play.

All of which brings me back to my gateway sentence—that the state of a nation's show business is an index to the state of the nation. As I see it, the Japanese, like their theatre, are straddling history, with one foot in the Fifteenth Century and the other in America, and they're still trying to get by with ideologies and ideas which have cooled down a lot since they turned up the Middle Ages. Besides which, if there's anything in the theory that it's healthy for people to have a theatre where they can take an honest look at themselves, then the Japanese are plenty sick, because the images that the theatrical syndicates are showing them make them look like Eekywood chouris girls or feudal puppets.

And so, if I may play Poobah for a moment, it's my hunch that Japan isn't likely to straighten out and fly until it develops a post-Hiroshima culture of its own—one with a lot less lore and a lot more life.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

Who remembers the Ulster County Society? Organized November 16, 1916 at the Woolworth Building in New York City, the society held its first annual banquet February 19, 1917, at the Hotel Manhattan, in New York. Later the annual banquets were held at the old Waldorf Astoria. Former residents of Ulster county residing in New York City formed this group and its membership was comprised of prominent business and professional men who met together once a year. A number of readers have asked me what happened to this organization. Who knows?

Items on "shad boning" appeared in this column on May 4th and May 14th. This is for those readers who have asked for these dates. Personally I too dislike shad because of its million bones therefore stick strictly to the eating of roe.

The following dated October 1854 in the Literary Scrap Book and Monthly Magazine, loaned me by Mrs. Jump of Port Ewen, is on keeping apples. Mr. Pell, of Ulster county, N. Y., the celebrated exporter of apples to Europe, recommends that apples after having been picked should be laid on a floor by hand, without pouring from the baskets, until they are 12 to 18 inches deep, and be left to dry and season three weeks; when again packed in clean barrels, they may be kept any reasonable length of time and safely sent to any part of Europe or the East India. The plan of drying and seasoning them prevailed generally some years ago, although now-a-days it is mostly discontinued as useless.

"Keeping apples safe till next spring to send to foreign countries, it is found on opening a barrel a few days after being put up in ever so dry weather, that the moisture often stands in drops all over the whole surface of the apples, though loose barrels will allow it mostly to evaporate, yet when they come in contact, the two surfaces retain it and cause rot. The carrying of apples in a common wagon either before or after barrelling, is injurious. They should be moved on springs or on sleds. The least abrasion of the skin, or crushing of the cells of the pulp containing the juice, allows fermentation and decomposition, and the consequent decay of the whole mass.

"Apples will not freeze until at a temperature of from 5 to 10 below the freezing point of water, and it is beneficial to keep them as cool as possible, even down to 30 degrees. Apples enclosed in a water-tight cask may be left in a cold loft all winter without further care and will be sound in the spring and perfectly fresh."

The following advertisement from the same 100 years old local magazine: "John Vignes, dealer in clocks, watches, jewelry, silver spoons, gold and silver spectacles, gold breast pins, gold and silver thimbles. (North Front street head of Wall street.) Also silver spoons and coffee plates engraved at short notice.

is the most trenchant and original political penman in the state, with a bow to Mrs. Harry King, now of Bridgeport, Conn., formerly Congresswoman Isabella Greenway, of Arizona. Mrs. King was a girlfriend of Eleanor Roosevelt and a maid of honor at her wedding. She broke politically with the Roosevelts over the third term in 1940 and withdrew from active politics. She is still influential and noted for her generosity.

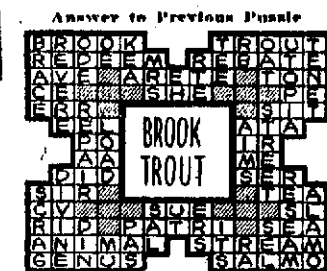

Columbus was born in Congress, Ariz., but his earliest recollection is the move that his father made from Pearce, a mining camp, with a present population of 250, over 25 miles of wild mountain road through Courtland and Gleason (population 100) to Tombstone. There were Mr. and Mrs. Giragi and five little Giragis and another miner and his wife and three children, all jammed in an old tally-ho, with their bags and bedding and kettles. The trip took all day.

Clayton Smith, the president editor and prop. of the Tombstone Epitaph, is very jealous of Tombstone's bad name. Tombstone's motto is "The town that was too tough to die" and Boothill Cemetery on the western outskirts, containing the bones of a hundred or more local or transient characters who died abruptly, is a sight for tourists. But Tombstone is a respectable, law-abiding desert town to the unspeakable perplexity of Brother Smith. Columbus says Tombstone wasn't so very tough even in his time and the famous shooting match at the O.K. corral between the Clantons and the Earps in which two were killed and three wounded has suffered by comparison with the Valentine Day massacre in Chicago and the Union Station massacre in Kansas City. Columbus saw only one killing. A Chinaman stabbed a Mexican.

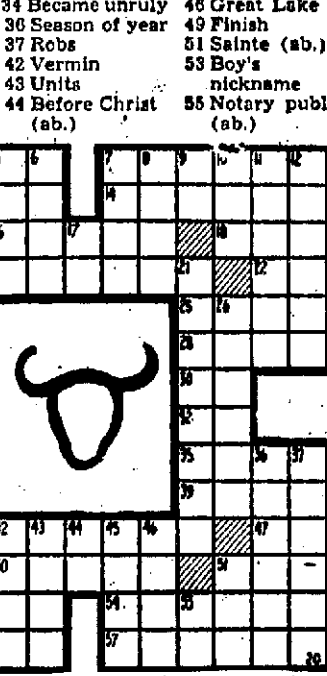

Columbus and his brother, Carmen, worked as bootblacks in two barbershops on the saloon side of the street, where the old Corral Palace still stands. The other side was the grocery store side. There was a moral and social demarcation. At 25 cents a shine the boys made good money and Columbus prospered additionally through a two-headed quarter which a trusty from the town jail had manufactured in his spare time. He matched the ears off Bill Haddock the editor and prop. of the Prospector and Epitaph, until Mr. Haddock discovered that the quarter had no tail. He was so taken by the little boy's acumen that he hired Columbus as a devil in his print shop. Then he hired Carmen, and in 1913, the boys bought Mr. Haddock out for $2,500. There was a down payment. They paid him off as they could, but it

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Camp Wendy Reports

Camp Wendy, at Wallkill, will be filled to capacity with Girl Scouts from July 10 through the 16, according to Miss Hazel Metcalfe, Ulster County Council. Twenty-five more girls can be accommodated for Period I-A, from July 3 to 10.

There will be space to accommodate only 25 more campers in Period II, July 17 to the 30. There is still plenty of room for registrants for Period III, from July 31 to August 13.

Camp Wendy staff is nearly complete. More than 50 per cent are returning. Those from Ulster county being Mrs. Kenneth Martin, business manager; Mrs. Donald, Fannie, younger, Brownie unit leader; and Miss Elizabeth Lee, nurse, cook, Miss Metcalfe will again direct the camp. Another resident of Kingston on the staff will be Mrs. Casper Souers, in charge of the older Brownies and "Flyups" (girls who have just gone into the Intermediate program.) Miss Jean Terwilliger will continue on as the council's secretary in residence at Camp Wendy, and Mrs. Helen G. Terwilliger, unit assistant, will direct a sketch class for all those interested.

All Girl Scouts interested in registering for camp are encouraged to do so as soon as possible.

Craft Director Needed

A woman over 21 years of age who has training and ability to direct art and crafts program is needed for the staff at Wendy this summer. Anyone interested is asked to contact the Ulster County Girl Scout Office, 42 Main street, Kingston, immediately.

Outdoor Training

Despite rain and lightning, nine adult Girl Scouts in Ulster County completed a 10-hour training course at Camp Wendy, last Saturday afternoon from 1 to 5. Those who were present were Mrs. Paul Otto, Mrs. Jerome Bouchard from Kingston; Mrs. Theodore Lee and Mrs. Donald Jackson of Woodstock; Miss Abigail Stokes and Mrs. Ronald Riegel from Kerhonkson; Mrs. Robert Archard, New Paltz; Mrs. Joseph Fabysack, Port Jervis; and Mrs. DeWitt Harbrouck, High Falls, who assisted in some details of the evening periods, and a four-hour afternoon practical checkout at Camp Wendy, under the direction of Mrs. Casper Souers, volunteer trainer; Mrs. Frank Grancy, and Miss Hazel Metcalfe. According to Girl Scoutingo, kabobs, potatoes baked in tin cans, and "dough-boys" were special features of the menu. Whittling, trench digging, fire making and axe handling became second nature to the participants of the course.

Senior Week-end

Camp Wendy will be the site of an experiment in inter-troop camping, Saturday and Sunday, when 45 Senior Scouts and chaperones gather for pioneer camping. Troop 36, in Kerhonkson; Troop 35, in Highland; Troop 43, Wallkill; Troop 33, Kingston; and Troop 6, Marlborough, will participate under the direction of Mrs. Donald Tinnie, senior program advisor; Mrs. Casper Souers, volunteer trainer; unit leaders of the various troops, Miss Alice Jones, Wendy senior unit leader for 1949, and Miss Metcalfe.

In addition to sleeping out on tent floors or under roofs if preferred, cooking out, hiking and enjoying camp fires, the girls will find opportunity for making new friends and renewing old acquaintances from 12 o'clock Saturday noon to 3 p. m. Sunday.

Milo Wadlin Will Wed Ruth Howard

Highland, May 20.—The engagement has been announced recently of Miss Ruth Howard, Danville, Ill., daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. M. L. Howard, to Milo Wadlin, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Wadlin of Brooklyn. The wedding will take place in the fall. Mr. Wadlin is a nephew of Assemblyman John F. Wadlin.

Motor Manners

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

Mrs. Post's "Motor Manners" is made available to the readers of this newspaper by the National Highway Users Conference, as a public service.

Don't Be A Jaywalker

Q. Why should pedestrians show courtesy to drivers of automobiles?

A. Just as every well-mannered driver makes it clear to every other driver exactly what he is going to do, all well-mannered pedestrians will do their part to keep a driver from running the risk of killing them. Even if you don't care about protecting your own life, it is a terrible thing to make an innocent driver commit mayhem unwittingly. Therefore, courteous pedestrians refrain from appearing in the street where motorists do not expect to find them.

Pedestrian Crosswalks

Q. What courtesy should a driver show at stop lights?

A. A courteous driver will always stop for a red light in a position that does not block the pedestrian crosswalk, and will always permit a pedestrian to finish crossing when he gets caught in the intersection by a change of lights. A well-mannered driver, who is about to make a turn through a pedestrian crosswalk, will proceed with utmost caution to enhance the safety of those on foot, remembering that they are crossing with a green light.

Printed copies of Emily Post's "Motor Manners" may be secured by writing to The Kingston Daily Freeman, care of the Bell Syndicate, Inc., 229 West 43rd street, New York, N. Y., and enclosing 5 cents to cover handling and postage.

Roosevelt Calls

Democratic Mayor William O'Dwyer also wants to see back in the leadership of the Manhattan Democratic organization—Roosevelt said he is "a man of high principle and integrity and a strong leader."

Pecora Mentioned
There was speculation also that Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora was being considered as a possible candidate for the leadership.

One report was that he had been sounded out on the possibility yesterday and was receptive, provided he was given a free hand to control the hall and make changes he deemed necessary. Pecora, however, denied he had been approached on the proposition. But he did not rule out the possibility that he would consider an appeal from the Tammany Executive Committee.

Mayor O'Dwyer, who once called Tammany "a gutter club," met yesterday with leaders of the Fair Deal Democrats, an anti-Rogers group. There was discussion of the mayor's proposal that Tammany district leaders be chosen by direct popular vote instead of by Democratic committees in the state assembly districts.

Fusion on Way
The new call for rebirth of the Fusion forces against both Tammany and Mayor O'Dwyer was welcomed yesterday by a high Republican leader.

Charles H. Tuttle, chairman of the city-wide committee of the G.O.P. named to direct a Fusion movement, hailed the call issued Wednesday by ex-Judge Samuel Seabury.

Tuttle said the Republican party is fully prepared and determined to join once more a Fusion movement such as elected the late Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia three times. Seabury, famed investigator who directed the three La Guardia campaigns, denounced the administration of Mayor O'Dwyer, who is expected to seek a second term next fall.

Roosevelt is going to Israel at the invitation of the Israeli government. He will inspect the progress of construction of a village for 1,000 orphaned displaced children. Roosevelt is national chairman of the Save-A-Child Foundation, which is building the village.

Boston Student Is
insist that he got a fellowship? "That is completely contrary to facts," Lillenthal replied.

Dr. Shields Warren, head of the A.E.C.'s Division of Biology and Medicine and a Boston physician, stepped in with a defense of the award of the fellowship. He had accompanied Lillenthal before the committee.

Warren said the fellowship was granted in the spring of 1948 and is for medical work in a non-secret field. Warren said Edelman was "outstanding in his field."

The senators are out to tighten up atomic security.

Two Are Sentenced For Carnival Gambling
A raid was conducted last evening on alleged gambling devices at the carnival which is playing at the Pan-Am field on Albany avenue extension. Sergeant Arthur A. Reilly and Trooper Bonney arrested Lorraine Watson of New Bedford, Mass., and Salvatore Latana of Hartford, Conn., on charges of being common gamblers. It was charged the Watson game, known as a "roll-down" game, and the Latana wheel were both gambling devices.

Taken before Justice of the Peace Percy Bush of the Town of Ulster both defendants entered pleas of guilty to the charges and were given 10 days in the county jail. Both sentences were suspended. The sum of $12.25 was seized from the games and will be turned over to the Poor Fund of the county. The games were confiscated and ordered destroyed by the court.

Exchange Studies Idea
New York, May 20 (AP)—The New York Stock Exchange is taking another step aimed at stimulating trade in securities. It was announced today. The exchange, through a special committee, will study possibility of lowering commissions on what Wall Street calls in-and-out trading—that is, purchases and sales of securities within a limited period. The study, according to financial quarters, was prompted in part by the belief that an increase in commission rates put into effect about two years ago has cut down on in-and-out trading.

State Police questioned the trio and secured in admission that they had committed the two local burglaries.

Shay Held on Warrant Charging Carnal Abuse
Henry Shay, 53, who police said has no home, was arrested at the Ulster county jail this morning on a warrant charging him with carnal abuse of a child, the police reported.

Arraigned in City Court today, Shay waived examination and was ordered held for grand jury. At the time of his arrest today, Shay was completing a five-day jail sentence imposed by City Judge Raymond Mino Tuesday morning on a disorderly conduct charge. He was arrested on that charge by Detective William Krum, who alleged he was loitering about the Athletic Field in this city. Following further investigation by Detective Krum, a warrant was sworn on the moral charge in City Court Thursday.

Storm Disrupts Electric Service

A rainstorm which hit this area Thursday night caused several electric power interruptions and brought disappointment to Kingston High School students forced to postpone their annual May Day festivities. It also brought a sigh of relief to Ulster county farmers.

The rain began early Thursday evening, but most of the damage did not occur until about 7:30 a. m. when wires were downed near Jump's Market, the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation reported. Earlier, electric power in the vicinity of First, Second and Third avenues in this city was off when a tree broke a primary wire.

The New York Telephone Company also reported, trouble starting this morning, some of it caused by the large amount of rain falling upon trees growing up into wires. Trouble reports were received from Esopus, Rosendale, Lake Katrine and other scattered points in the county.

Fruit growers and farmers, however, had only one comment on the rain: "We needed it." Up until 8 a. m. today a total of .069 inches of rain had fallen at Brown's Station at the Ashokan Reservoir. Although rain was still falling steadily at press time, fruit growers predicted their orchards could take another full day of rain without damage.

Colonials' Revamped Lineup Stops Bees, 5-3; Move Out of Cellar

Elenchin's Bat Hot In Bridgeport Win

Play Waterbury Here Saturday

Thanks to a couple of strong-armed rookies the Kingston Colonials are out of the Colonial League cellar today, by only a game over Waterbury, but they are out of the rubble.

A 5-3 victory over the league leading Bridgeport Bees in Bridgeport coupled with a Waterbury defeat last night accomplished the trick.

Tonight the Colonials are in Stamford and then return to municipal stadium for a week-end series against Bert Shepard's Waterbury Timers.

Graham Wins
Hamilton Graham and Frank Demeri twirled effectively, Johnny Elenchin hit in the pinches, while Manager Julie Laviano made significant changes in the lineup.

Pete Elko, the regular third sacker, was moved to right field where he will sink or swim as a Colonial. Gerald Murray, a right fielder with infield experience will play at third until a suitable replacement is signed, while a newcomer, Frank Granato, was introduced at first base.

Demeri Relieves
A first inning homer by Jim Handy and Harry Paul's eighth inning triple gave starter Graham his only anxious moments. The southpaw was strong, fanning nine batters. He tried in the eighth and was lifted in favor of Frank Demeri who breezed through the last four men. Johnny Elenchin, who collected three of Kingston's 11 safeties off Jim Frick, drove in Eddie McNamara with a triple in the first inning. Johnny Pluchino tripled during Kingston's three-run rally in the sixth, while Eddie McNamara's double figured in a third inning score.

Elko marked his transfer to right field with a pair of singles. Granato, the new first sacker, is a 6 foot 1 1/2 inch player, right handed all the way and was secured from the Anderson, S. C. club of the Tri-State League.

Danny Rourke, ace of the Colonial staff, is scheduled to pitch in Stamford tonight, with Harry Petty, Frank Demeri and Francisco Sostre available for the week-end series against Waterbury.

Burt Shepard, former Washington Senator hurler, who is the player-manager for Waterbury, is expected to pitch one of the games against the Colonials.

More Righties
Cincinnati (AP)—A study of the players used by the Cincinnati Reds since 1876 indicates that about 70 per cent of baseball players but right-handed. Of 734 former Redlegs, 495 hit right-handed, 210 left-handed and 29 swung from both sides of the plate. An even greater number, more than 81 per cent, threw right-handed.

Double Doses
Cincinnati (AP)—The 1945 Cincinnati team accounted for more than half its schedule through doubleheaders, playing 41 of them for a Red record. But in the early days of the National League, the Reds went almost four years without playing a doubleheader—from Sept. 9, 1876 to Sept. 7, 1880.

The All-American Conference champion Cleveland Browns have scheduled a pre-season game with the Chicago Hornets at Toledo's Glass Bowl on August 14.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

By The Associated Press

By JACK HAND.

Red Rolfe is winning his spurs as a successful big league manager at Detroit.

The ex-New York Yankee third baseman who never managed any team, except Yale University, until this spring, has his Tigers in second place, only two games behind the leading Yankees.

Washington, Cincinnati and the Chicago White Sox have been stealing the big black print in the newspapers, but Detroit rates high among the surprise teams of 1949.

They All Laughed
They laughed at Rolfe last March in Lakeland (Fla.) when he said he was taking dead aim at the American League pennant. Everybody nodded politely, smiled and said, "they'll be lucky" to beat out the Philadelphia A's to get in the first division.

Despite a decided weakness at first and second base, Rolfe maneuvered the Tigers into a commanding position on the hitting of George Kell, Viv Wertz and rookie Johnny Groth. Then he plugged the second base hole by acquiring Don Kolloway from the White Sox. Recently he benched George Vico and started playing Paul Campbell at first. It worked.

Rolfe set up a pitching "big four" of Hal Newhouse (4-2), Virgil Trucks (5-1), Ted Gray (3-1) and Freddie Hutchinson (2-2).

Hutchinson Stars
Hutchinson, who turned back Washington with seven hits yesterday, 10-1, is as handy with the bat as he is on the mound. Hutch drove in three runs with a single, double and triple in the attack that rung No. 3 on Red Sauer.

Not even three hits by first baseman Eddie Robinson could save Washington.

Detroit picked up a full game on the first place Yankees, who were dropped by Cleveland, 3-2, on a terrific slugging display by Larry Doby. The Indians' Negro outfielder smashed a 450-foot-plus homer—said by veteran observers to be the longest ever hit in the Yankee Stadium—as Steve Gromek shaded Bob Porterfield.

Doby's blast in the second inning cleared the 20-foot bleacher wall and landed in the seventh row.

U. S. Stars Dominate French Championships
Paris, May 20 (AP)—The French International Tennis Championships began to look like a private Los Angeles party today as the event moved into the fourth round.

Three smooth-stroking Californians—Richard (Pancho) Gonzales, Frankie Parker and Budge Patty—stole the show in the third round yesterday.

Gonzales, the U. S. champion, defeated Antoine Gentien of France, 6-2, 6-3, 6-3. The top seeded Parker, defending singles champion, ousted Egypt's Pierre Grandpierre, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

Patty had little trouble with Jacques Sanglier of France, 6-2, 6-1, 8-6.

The total strikeouts is believed to be a record for a single, nine inning game in the three-year-old circuit: Big Ed Hrachak on the mound for the Pioneers limited the Timers to five well scattered blows and "Tom" Sawyer for the Timers was almost as stingy, giving up only seven safeties.

Jacobs Boxing Era Will End Tonight

New York, May 20 (AP)—Boxing comes to the end of an era tonight when Mike Jacobs promotes his last boxing show at Madison Square Garden under the banner of the 20th Century Sporting Club.

Uncle Mike will remain in a vague "advisory capacity" in the new unnamed Garden corporation but tonight's Robert Villmain-Pete Mead middleweight contest will be his last promotion. Jacobs has had a virtual monopoly on the fight game for 12 years.

With no night baseball competition, the 20th has fond hopes of doing at least $35,000 on tonight's 16-rounder between Villmain the rugged Frenchman, and Mead the racy puncher from Grand Rapids, Mich.

Locke, Kirkwood Tie in Inquirer

Philadelphia, May 20 (AP)—A husky young movie actor on a golfing vacation matched strokes with the best in the pitch-and-putt business today as a definite threat to win the $15,000 Philadelphia Inquirer tournament.

Joe Kirkwood, Jr., in the movies he enacts Joe Palooka—shared the first round lead with Bobby Locke, the South African who is currently the hottest thing in professional golf. Each posted a four-under-par 68 yesterday.

Strung out behind them with cards ranging up to the high 80's was a field of 122 that included most of the sport's big names. Additional 18-hole rounds are scheduled today, tomorrow and Sunday over the 6670-yard White-mare Valley Country Club course.

In addition to Kirkwood and Locke, 10 others bettered the course's 72 par. Eight had par and a total of 28 were within five shots of the leaders. Most of the experts agreed it looked like a scramble all the way to the finish.

THE RUMINATOR

A Column of Contrary Opinion
By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

In 1929 the frenzied stock market worried conservative financial minds because they feared the aftermath of the mania for speculation.

In 1949 the quiescent stock market worries conservative financial minds because they fear the LACK of interest in stocks.

A complete about-face in 20 years is economic news of significance.

For weeks, newspaper and magazine articles have been exploring the reason for the market's doldrums.

But why this sudden concern about a dormant stock exchange? Was it not "planned that way?" Has it not been the earnest desire of the political party in power since 1933 to stifle the spirit of speculation—to see established in this country a quiet, orderly, investment-type market?

Well, it has become so quiet and orderly that the market is not fulfilling its economic function. The function of the exchange is to aid and abet the financing of American industries and commercial establishments. By supplying a market where buyers and sellers may meet on even ground, and exchange money for securities (and vice versa), the exchange is a contributing factor to the growth of the nation. Indeed, exchanges contribute to the financing of business to a far greater extent than is commonly recognized or understood.

People will not readily aid in the financing of new businesses and the expansion of older ones unless they know they can sell their shares if need, or desire, arises.

It is the old, old story of "economic dominance." Every time a group of well-wishers, or do-gooders, hits upon a bright idea to curb the "money power," it is long before the curb is found to be on the wrong horse.

Curb the winners and the race loses interest. Soon the crowd turns away and there isn't any horse race.

That is what has happened in Wall Street. First, the professional manipulators were put out of business. So they sold their horses. It is freely granted that manipulation in the markets is a bad thing. We are not discussing morals, but simply describing what happened.

When the manipulators disposed of their horses, the race slowed down.

Next, through punitive tax measures which were designed to "redistribute the wealth"—and further to check speculation—other owners of big-time horses became dissatisfied. The races were "fixed" so that the odds were too heavy against them. Odds became too-heavy against wealthy men because the tax rates made a profit a costly risk. For example, speculative holding—stocks held less than six months—are taxed as income.

A speculative profit, therefore, for a man in a high tax bracket, became a 20-30 proposition. Twenty per cent for the investor and 80 per cent for the government. Who would risk important money against those odds? Why bother with the stock market? Forget it and put the money in income bonds and tax exempts.

Thus, numerous wealthy stock-market participants sold their horses also.

And the crowd has turned away. What will bring the crowd back? This is what Wall Street wants to know. More importantly, that is what industry wants to know. "How are we going to get new money, when we need it," is the question giving headaches to business.

Under prevailing market stagnation business cannot sell stocks and enlarge their business. They can sell bonds. They can borrow money for expansion. But, this is not sound financing. A capitalistic system calls for capital from shareholders—from risk-bearers—not from lenders.

The great American Telephone & Telegraph Company is resorting right now to additional bond financing, when it should be selling stock. Bond financing has developed to such an extent that the A. T. & T. now will have half its capitalization represented by borrowings. A third, or less, would certainly be sounder principle.

Who has forgotten the wringers through which the railroads were squeezed because their "bonded indebtedness" became topheavy? Reorganizations, one after the other, were the sequel.

We thus see the result of a quiet, orderly market, free of manipulation. (Although it should be added that a subsidiary reason for the grass growing in Wall Street has been the perennial fear of a depression.)

However, to be contrary, and to hazard a guess on human nature, I venture the opinion that before too long there will be an awakening in Wall Street. The desire for speculation lies dormant—but not dead—in the human breast. If stock prices start to rise, it will not be long before the rising quotations begin to itch in many breasts. The telephones will commence to ring in brokers' offices; and the old, familiar question will be repeated: "What's the market doing today?"

There has not been a time since the spring of 1942, in this writer's contrary opinion, when the stage was so well set to enact the double-cross on the doubters and the bears. Scarcely an advisory service is bluntly bullish. A few may be half-heartedly suggesting buying, but with tongue-in-cheek. The public is deadly apathetic. This is obvious from the volume of trading. Numerous amateur speculators are selling out, or selling short. The odd-lot transactions reveal this public bearishness. The total short interest in the stock market is large. (Short sellers believe the market is going down.)

In sum, the contrary viewpoint argues for two probable eventualities: (1) Sometime soon prices of stocks will commence an advance, not a decline (subject to the usual minor fluctuations); (2) Wall Street will eventually come to life when it becomes generally apparent to the public and to businessmen that the over-emphasized and much-advertised recession is not going to be as serious as formerly expected. Rising prices will help to defeat defeatism.

Finally, no era of prosperity is likely to end until speculation does break out.

Agricultural Museum

Japan opened its first agricultural museum in 1932.

Next, through punitive tax measures which were designed to "redistribute the wealth"—and further to check speculation—other owners of big-time horses became dissatisfied. ## Autopsy Report Awaited on Heggen

New York, May 20 (AP)—An autopsy report was awaited today in the death of Thomas Heggen, 31, war-veteran author of the best-seller, "Mr. Roberts," which he helped convert into the Broadway smash hit.

Heggen was found drowned yesterday in a half-filled bathtub in his apartment. A nearly empty bottle of sleeping pills was on a washstand.

Dr. Leopold Bellak, a Manhattan psychiatrist, said Heggen had been receiving treatments from him for some time.

The doctor said he could not divulge details of Heggen's case, except to say the author had been mentally depressed. He said he had prescribed sleeping pills for insomnia.

"His condition had improved recently," Dr. Bellak said. "The indications are his death was an accident."

Heggen reportedly drew more than $4,000 a week from the play, "Mr. Roberts," which stars Henry Fonda.

The play, which already has netted Heggen a reported $200,000 still is drawing packed houses after 65 weeks on Broadway. Another company is playing it in Chicago.

Heggen wrote the book while on navy combat duty in the Pacific during the war, and later collaborated on the play version with Joshua Logan.

Police theorized that Heggen might have taken an overdose of sleeping pills, entered the bath to try to overcome his drowsiness, then dozed off and drowned.

Heggen, a native of Fort Dodge, Ia., was divorced in 1946 from the former Carol Lynn Gilmer of Cokmulgee, Okla. His book is dedicated to her.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O. Heggen, now live at 4623 Beard avenue south, Minneapolis.

Texas Widow Fails To Cancel Release

Mayville, N. Y., May 20 (AP)—A 24-year-old widow from Texas has failed in her effort to cancel a release she signed for the wealthy manufacturer she claims fathered her illegitimate child.

The widow, redheaded Mrs. Dorrie Furst, reportedly accepted $1,500 in return for the release, thereby absolving the manufacturer, Joseph C. Bancroft, from all responsibility before the child was born.

Chautauque County Judge Hugh V. N. Bodine, refused yesterday to set aside the release.

Mrs. Furst, formerly of Houston, Tex., staged an eight-day "sit down, strike" at Bancroft's White Plains mansion last summer, trying to get him to "do something about Junior." She abandoned the siege, to enter a Manhattan rest home for the child's birth.

The child's guardian, Amos S. Basel, New York city lawyer, sought to have the release set aside, claiming it was signed under duress. Only the mother or the welfare department has the right to bring such a proceeding, however, Bodine ruled. The child could not do so unless paternity had been acknowledged, he said.

Warren Johnson of nearby Jamestown, representing Basel, said he will appeal.

Bancroft also has a home in Jamestown.
